

Reporting a problem

The ORC wiki is provided for any one to use, be they players or GMs

I've messed up my page!

You can roll back your edits to an earlier time, as long as it is within the last month. A database script runs that clears out revisions over a month old. However, if the software is patched for security or upgraded any older stub edits may be lost.

People keep correcting my spelling and grammar

Anyone can edit the wiki - make sure you spell-check and read over what you have written before submission. If you use a program such as MS Word check it for spelling and grammar before posting an entry. An alternative to Word is the powerful and free Open Office. Firefox also has spell checkers built into it, with the British English Dictionary available as a download.

My pages have been vandalised
